Posted by Stalski on October 21, 2010 at 10:14am

Fieldgroup will, as the name implies, group fields together. All fieldable entities will have the possibility to add groups to wrap their fields together. Fieldgroup comes with default HTML wrappers like vertical tabs, horizontal tabs, accordions, fieldsets or div wrappers.

REGISTRATION AND CANCELLATION

Who can register accounts?

- ( ) Administrators only
- ( ) Visitors
- (•) Visitors, but administrator approval is required

[x] Require e-mail verification when a visitor creates an account.

New users will be required to validate their e-mail address prior to logging into the site, and will be assigned a system-generated password. With this setting disabled, users will be logged in immediately upon registering, and may select their own passwords during registration.

When cancelling a user account

- (•) Disable the account and keep its content.
- ( ) Disable the account and unpublish its content.
- ( ) Delete the account and make its content belong to the Anonymous user.
- ( ) Delete the account and its content.

Users with the Select method for cancelling account or Administer users permissions can override this default method.

LIST | PERMISSIONS

Permissions | Roles

Roles allow you to fine tune the security and administration of Drupal. A role defines a group of users that have certain privileges as defined on the permissions page. Examples of roles include: anonymous user, authenticated user, moderator, administrator and so on. In this area you will define the names and order of the roles on your site. It is recommended to order your roles from least permissive (anonymous user) to most permissive (administrator). To delete a role choose "edit role".

By default, Drupal comes with two user roles:

- Anonymous user: this role is used for users that don't have a user account or that are not authenticated.
- Authenticated user: this role is automatically granted to all logged in users.
